Cambios introducidos en las metodologías y plan de trabajo

After the interruption of the face-to-face activity, the theory and practice classes are taught online through Microsoft Teams at the same dates and times as the official schedule for the Corporate Finance group. The materials and bibliography remain identical to those initially specified in the course guide. Additional support materials are provided regarding the solutions of the exercises in the practical classes.

The group work planned under a face-to-face activity has been replaced in the online modality by more autonomous student study work.

Cambios introducidos en la evaluación

The unforeseen suppression of classroom activity given the health crisis caused by the Covid-19 has prevented the continued evaluation planned for the 2019-2020 academic year. Continuous assessment has been carried out only until the moment in which the classroom activity was suspended, that is, until March 13, 2020. During the online teaching of the classes there has been no continuous evaluation taking place. In these circumstances, the final grade for the Corporate Finance course will be the best of the following two alternatives, for each student:

* Los cambios introducidos no deben alterar las competencias ni los resultados de aprendizaje esperados

1) The global grade will be a weighted average of the continuous evaluation carried out until the suspension of the face-to-face activity and the rest of the weight will correspond to the final exam.

2) Final exam on ten points.

Thus, the final grade will be computed, for each student, considering the highest mark under each of these two alternatives (highest between 1 and 2).

Regarding those students in a differentiated evaluation regime, the final grade will be computed, for each student under differentiated assessment, taking into account the highest between a) the grade considering all the evaluation assessments in the course guide under differentiated assessment for the 2019-2020 academic year, including the final exam and b) the grade considering only a final exam on 10 points.

The final exam is intended to be done in person (face to face), and always following the instructions of the health authorities, which, according to the new guidelines of the Rector and Dean, will take place from June 2020, on the dates established by the academic authorities.

If the authorities allow a final exam as a face to face final exam in the established dates, given that some of the Erasmus students are following online classes from abroad, some students will not be in a position to attend the face to face final exam at Universidad de Oviedo. Any student who intends to take the exam online (because of the impossibility to attend a face-to-face exam) should inform via email to fgascon@uniovi.es at least ten days before the date of the final exam in order to arrange an online final exam for them which may take place at a different time and or date.

If the health crisis prevents a face-to-face final exam on the new dates established by the academic authorities, the Corporate Finance final exam subject would be held on those dates in an online (non-face-to-face) mode. In any case, we will follow the corresponding instructions and guidelines of the Rector and Dean.

Cambios introducidos en las tutorías

While the suspension of the face-to-face activity lasts, tutorial time will be carried out through email, the virtual campus or online meetings through Microsoft Teams.
