Cambios introducidos en la evaluación

Given the extraordinary circumstances generated by the confinement due to the COVID-19 pandemic, during the 2019-2020 academic year the weighting of the evaluation system is modified as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>a) The weight of the final exam is reduced from 60% to 50%</li><li>b) The weight of the continuous evaluation is increased from 40% to 50%</li></ul> The final exam will consist of the traditional, face-to-face test that will take place on the official date set by the School of Economics and Business, as long as the confinement is lifted and the appropriate sanitary conditions are met. In the event that the circumstances do not allow this test to take place as planned, an online exam will be carried out the same day and at the same time.

NOTE: the course will not be passed if a minimum of 1.5 points out of 5 corresponding to the final exam is not obtained.

Professors will determine the details about the type of questions and the structure of the exam, which, if the size of the group allows it, can be an oral exam. These changes will be communicated to the students so that they foresee this eventuality and, where appropriate, are prepared and have the necessary resources (mobile phone or computer with camera and internet connection). In this regard, it is recommended, if necessary, to seek the assistance of the University of Oviedo and / or other public institutions, such as libraries or town halls (please note that there are telecentres in all of the Asturian municipalities).

Cambios introducidos en las tutorías

Office hours will be substituted by tutorials via either email, virtual campus or videoconferences.
